“ Dear Celeste:

We are among the lucky ones. The ones who have a mom that cares for us always, is our best friend in the world and who whos biggest wish in life is that we are happy. It's a great club to be in. No matter what, we know we will always have unconditional love when we don't feel so loveable, support when we lack courage and loving hugs when ever we need them. I'm not sure, but I tend to think experiencing this love is not common place. Indeed we are the lucky ones.

But with every rainbow there is rain, with every silver lining there was a dark cloud and, as one of the lucky ones, the passing of our moms brings us the deepest sorrow. At least I think it does, I haven't arrived at the meeting of the club yet.

I know you must be experiencing great pain, yet you have such a good heart you are thinking of your mom, of how happy she is now, free of pain & illness, back together with your father and you know you will meet them again someday. This is truly beautiful. May I be so blessed when my turn comes. You are such a good daughter, such a wonderful person.

Celeste we've been friends for 35+ years and, although we have gone through years without talking or seeing each other, once we do it's like no time has passed. I'm holding you close in my thoughts.

*Love,
Lorraine*
