“ To Tonie and Family:

Most will not know me, but Rob (he has always been Rob to me) was probably my best friend while at Monroe and then at Burbank. He introduced this Chinese boy to lumpia and to Dell's salami on hard roll sandwiches. Listening to Ruben last night reminded me on how impeccably dressed he was, especially in Jr. High! Oxford shirts with starched collars and finishing off this look with pressed jeans! Who wears that in Jr High! We walked to and from Burbank together almost on a daily basis. After school, he (and Geraldo) would have the patience to play basketball with this sports challenged friend of his. That was the kind of guy he was. Being short and skinny, I was always a ripe target for an "ass kicking". This was never the case when I was in the presence of Rob. As in the movie, he was "My Bodyguard". We had great laughs together. I'm sure, had I gone on to Balboa, we would have continued to nurture our close friendship. With Rob gone, I feel a piece of my childhood has been taken from me. I will miss him.

When you have a chance Tonie, write me and tell me all about Bob...the later years. I would love that (khchin@sbcglobal.net)

Love to you and your family,

Kurtis Chin

He was a hard worker at Bank of America and was well know for his passion for fishing, Bay Area sports and tell true stories about his life. “ I've known Bob for almost 20 years from working at the Bank. Even after retirement, we've always stayed in touch. He was more like a big brother/cousin to me. I loved the way he was always direct/blunt in his conversations and he always made me laugh. It was a joy knowing him and I will miss him so very much.

“ I met Bob in 1992. Our friendship grew over the years. We became very close after Bob and I left Bank of America. He was very emotionally supportive to me during the years of my wife's illness and after she passed away. Bob had a kind and gentle spirit. He would always help anyone with anything. Bob had a sense of humor that brought laughter to many people, often when they needed it the most. I will miss him greatly.
